Utterly Collapses When Taken to Prison at Auburn.

AND YELLED IN TERROR

Sent a Sympathetic Message to His Father.

SORRY FOR HIS CRIME

AUBURN, N. Y., September 27 .- Czolgosz, President McKinley's murderer, in the custody of Sheriff Caldwell of Erie county and twenty-one deputies, arrived in Auburn at 3:15 a.m. The prison is only about fifty yards from the depot. Awaiting the arrival of the train there was a crowd of about 200 people. Either for fear of the crowd, which was not very demonstrative, or from sight of the prison, Czolgosz's legs gave out and two deputy sheriffs were compelled to practically carry the man into the prison. Inside the gate his condition became worse, and he was dragged up the stairs and into the main hall. He was placed in a sitting posture on the bench while the handcuffs were being removed, but he fell over and moaned and groaned, evincing the most abject ter-

As soon as the handcuffs were unlocked the man was dragged into the principal keeper's office. As in the case of all prisoners, the officers immediately proceeded to strip him and put on a new suit of During this operation Czolgosz cried and yelled, making the prison corri-dors echo with evidence of his terror. The prison physician, Dr. John Gerin, examined the man and ordered his removal to the cell in the condemned row, which he will occupy until he is taken to the electric The doctor declared that the man was suffering from fright and terror, but said that he was shamming to some extent.

Collapse Was a Surprise. The collapse of the murderer was a surprise to every one. En route from Buffalo he showed no indication of breaking down. He are heartily of sandwiches and smoked cigars when not eating. He talked some and expressed his regret for his crime. He said, "I am very sorry for Mrs. McKinley." He reiterated his former statement that he had had no accomplices, and declared that he never had heard of the man under arrest in St. Louis who claimed to have tied the handkerchief over his hand, conceal-ing the pistol with which the President

To Jailer Mitchell he sent this message to his father: "Tell him I'm sorry I left such a bad name for him." Taken From Buffalo Last Night.

Czolgosz was taken from Buffalo to Auburn state's prison last night to await death by electrocution during the week commencing Monday, October 28. Sheriff Caldwell and sixteen men took the prisoner in a special car, attached to the second section of train 18, which was due to leave at 9:30 p.m. The train left the New York Central station over that road at 10:06 o'clock, and the railroad officials said that an effort would be made to reach Auburn at 2:12 o'clock, which is schedule time. Czolgosz was "sneaked" out the back en-trance of the Erie county jail, surrounded by the seventeen men, and was hustled into the special car, which had backed down on the terrace tracks, a few rods in

Just before the train pulled out a representative of the Associated Press saw Czolgosz, seated easily in a seat and smoking a cigar. the seat with the prisoner was Jailer Mitchell, and in the opposite seat, facing them, were the keeper of the penitentlary and Deputy Sheriff Hugh Sloan, the oldest and most experienced deputy sheriff in the The other guards were seated in and back of him and on the other side of the car directly opposite his seat. The authorities received word from some source today that the sheriff might counter considerable difficulty in getting the prisoner to Auburn. Just what sort of trouble was feared could not be learned, but great care was taken that no advance news of the departure of the train was tel-egraphed along the line.

REPRESENTATIVE HEPBURN

HE THINKS THE SAME CANAL BILL WILL PASS.

He is Opposed to Giving Cuba Tariff Concessions on Her Sugar and Tobacco.

Representative W. P. Hepburn of Iowa is spending this week in Washington on private business. Mr. Hepburn has just returned from San Francisco, where he went to meet his daughter, who is a resident of Hawail. At the adjournment of Congress Col. Hepburn was suffering greatly with sciatica. His health has greatly improved, and his special trouble had almost entirely left him until he encountered several days of the San Francisco fog. Since leaving there, however, his sciatica is again leaving

Col. Hepburn was asked by a Star reporter today what the prospects of Nicaragua canal legislation were at the coming session of Congress.

"I think the same bill will pass the House at the coming session that was passed at the last," was his reply. Col. Hepburn does not consider the negotiation of a treaty between the United States and Great Britain in the least necessary to the construction of the canal by the United States. "The Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which is the ground for the necessity of a new treaty, has never een thought obligatory except by three Presidents and three Secretaries of State since it was ratified," he continued. "A new treaty, however, will avoid all possibilities of hard feelings between the two countries, and it will refute the idea that we are willing to abrogate a treaty that may or may not be binding." There will be two changes in the commit-on interstate and foreign commerce of the House, from which the canal bill will come. These changes are caused by the retirement from Congress of Representatives Hawley and MacAleer. Mr. Hepburn, however, did not believe this fact would change the sense of the committee on this particular measure.

Against Concessions to Cuba

Dropping the discussion of the canal bill, Mr. Hepburn said. "I believe there is one thing I should like to say. Since I have been here I have heard much talk about the tariff concessions that should be made to Cuba. I have but little sympathy with the idea of concessions. The articles that Cuba would desire to have admitted free of duty, or at a less rate than other nations pay, would be sugar and tobacco. "We are probably producing in the United States this year 200,000 tons of beet sugar, justifying the expectation that in ten years' time, with the present conditions continued, we will produce all the sugar needed in the United States. This sugar beet industry is one of great value and marked importance to the farming community. Not only do we secure the sugar, but the beet pulp is very valuable in beef "In the matter of tobacco, we are raising wrapper tobacco that is nearly if not quite equal to the Sumatra wrapper, and our filler is equal to a very large proportion of Cuban tobacco. Of course, not equal to that produced in Pinar del Rio, but quite equal to that which is produced in four of the six divisions of Cuba. "I think we ought to encourage rather than discourage the sugar and tobacco in-dustries of the United States, and we will

It is the present opinion of Senators Hawley and Cockrell that the committee should proceed in executive session.

Col. H. O. S. Heistand of the adjutant general's department arrived here this morning from San Francisco. He reported to Adjutant General Corbin and was placed on special duty in his office. Mr. Hawkes of this city for alleged com-plicity in the Philippine hemp scandal, and the matter became the subject of senatorial investigation, Col. Helstand was ordered home. He arrived at San Francisco several months ago, and the Senate committee on investigation not being prepared to proceed at that time he was assigned to duty at San Francisco in connection with the mus ter out of the volunteer army. A circular has been mailed to postmasters today by the third assistant postmaster general, calling attention to the order of July 17, regarding changes in the classification of second-class mail matter. Although several protests have been made to the department since the order was promulgated, no change will be made. The circular letter today calls attention to the order as printed in the postal guide, and adds the following as to the class of mat-

"Periodical publications having characteristics of books and those the cir-culations of which are not founded on their value as news or literary journals, etc., will not be admissible to the second-class; but when a publication has once been formally admitted to the second-class, the certificate of entry cannot be revoked until so ordered by the department. THE CHURCH IN HAWAII.

Its Status to Be Determined at Episcopal Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 27.-An important question to be considered by the Episcopal general convention, which meets here next week, will relate to the position of the church in Hawaii. A statement written for the Chronicle by a churchman from Honolulu says: "The people of Hawall are strongly in favor of their church being placed under the jurisdiction of an American bishop and of the American church being established there. "Althought the church in Honolulu has selected two men to attend the general convention, Gen. Osborne and Clive Davies they in no sense come as deputies, but merely to further the interests of their church as far as possible in an unofficial stamp of Admiral Schley, showing that it was received on the flagship at 8:15 n.m. of the 23d of May.

Lieut. Hood was cross-examined by Mr. Lieut. Hood was cross-examined by Mr. Rayner, who questioned him to show that the dispatch he brought from Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley indicated that the former expected the flying squadron to leave before daylight of May 23, and also to show that the dispatch having been delivered at 7:30 in the morning it would have been impossible to comply with the order in that respect.

The court then took a recess until 2 o'clock.

Mr. Stayton Denied Admission. The interesting feature before the court of inquiry this afternoon was the appearance of Mr. W. H. Stayton of New York city, who entered the portion of the room reserved to the court, presented to Admiral Dewey a letter from Admiral Sampson requesting that he be allowed to represent him as his counsel in the pending investi-

This action on the part of Mr. Stayton is a declaration on his behalf that Admiral Sampson has been attacked. He has been present in the court room daily since the proceedings began in the interest of Admiral Sampson, and his application for admission as the admiral's counsel was solely based on the claim that Admiral Samp-son had been attacked in the evidence sub-

Admiral Dewey simply remarked to Mr. Stayton that he could not be admitted, and when he asked if he might remain inside the railing told him that he would have to go beyond the bounds of the court. To a Star reporter this afternoon Mr. Stayton said that he would renew his application tomorrow morning before court and would give reasons why should be admitted. Speaking of these reasons, he said that four times since this inquiry began questions had been asked which were insulting to Admiral Sampson and then withdrawn or not pressed. These reasons he will state fully to the court to-

The latter said his recollection was that he had delivered his dispatches to Commodore Schley in his (Schley's) cabin, but it might be that he handed them to Lieutenant Welles and had walked down to the cabin with him. He thought there was no one in cabin when the conversation between himself and the commodore had taken place

Capt. McCalla on the Stand.

Lieut. Hood was then excused and Captain Bowman H. McCalla, who commanded the Marbidhead during the Spanish war was called. He stated that he had first come into contact with the flying squadron on May 19, 1898. He was then proceeding from the south coast of Cuba to Key West and met the squadron on its way to Cuba. He had not been asked to come aboard for the purpose of making a report. Captain McCalla said that upon reaching Key West he had informed Captain Chadwick, Admired Sampson's chief-of-staff, of the secret code he had arranged with the Cuban insurgents, but that he had not given it to any one else.

Capt. McCalla told of his return to Clenfuegos on the morning of May 24. He had carried dispatches to Admiral Schley and had then told him of the arrangement to communicate with the Cubans and of his information that the Spanish fleet was in the harbor at Santiago. He said that Capt. Carter to recover part of the booty, eft suddenly to follow information as to Schley had immediately assented to his going ashore.

He also told of his report to Schley and had then for the first time seen the in-structions to the commodore. The commo-dore had told him that he had found difficulty in coaling, but that he felt that if he returned to Key West he would be court-

McCalla said he had advised him to go to Santiago, even if he did not stay there. CONTROVERSY IN COURT.

Lively Dispute Within the Railing This Afternoon.

A lively controversy occurred within th railing surrounding the court immediately after the adjournment today for lunch A New York newspaper today had publish ed a letter or cablegram from Admiral Schley which was sent to a cable office at Kingston, but which never reached the department.

This cablegram happened to get to the cable office at the time the officer representing Admiral Sampson reached there with a cablegram from the commander-inchief of the North Atlantic squadron, and it is stated that that officer took upon himself the responsibility of substituting Admiral Sampson's cable for the cable of Commodore Schley, ordering that the latter be not sent at all.

The point in controversy in the court com today when the recess was taken was that this cablegram signed by Commodor is contained in Admiral Schley's private letter book, which has been turne over to the department and is in the keep-ing of the judge advocate. The question arose how this letter was published It is not at all regarded as significant so far as its bearing on the case is concerned. Counsel for Admiral Schley today remarked the fact that the letter had been and that it could only be found in Admiral Schley's private letter book. The judge advocate resented the insinua-tion, as he considered it, that he had given out the letter for publication, and there the case rested.

Be Sure You Read. From Success.

The man who would like to know some thing about astronomy must lay out a little scheme of study for himself, get the books which are necessary, and have them at political economy, with politics, or with industrial questions, which are now of such importance, must find out what text books he ought to have, secure those text books and keep them by his side. The man who wishes to know literature does not need to lay out an elaborate plan which fills him with discouragement by its very magni-tude, but he does need to decide what author he is going to read next, and he does need to get the book and keep it within easy reach. Almost all the great classics are now published in such portable forms that a man can carry a play of Shakes-peare, the essays of Bacon, the poems of Tennyson or of Browning, a translation of "Faust," Matthew Arnold's criticisms, Emerson's essays or John Burroughs' charming transcriptions of nature in his coat pocket, and substitute them for the newspaper which is thrust in his face by an eager newsboy, and which he buys because he has nothing else to read.

Theatrical Business. From Chambers' Journal.

The business of the claque has been sub divided into many branches, all of which are controlled by one man, or group of nen. The applauders-even the lady in the box who faints and the man who hisses at'a good part in order to arouse the indignant enthusiasm of the audience-were all provided for so many tickets a per-formance, to be sold by agents to the puball provided for so many tickets a performance, to be sold by agents to the public. So carefully were the plans of campaign thought out that the Whiteley of applause used to provide a man or woman, dressed in provincial style, to jump up and scream out, "There's the villain hiding behind that tree," or the like. We also hear of cowboys in the far west pulling out their revolvers and peppering the melodramatic villain. On one occasion in a London theater the business instinct came out in the same way. A relative of the lessee was enacting the part of an indignant father whose son had got into the hands of the money lenders. In the interview with the money lender the father severely lectured him, and then demanded his son's bill. "There, sir," he said, "is my check for a thousand pounds." The

HEAD OF BAND OF THIEVES FINANCE AND TRADE

NEW YORK, September 27 .- According to Captain Titus of the detective bureau,

Joseph Goldman, who was arrested last night with four other men and a boy on the charge of burglary, was the head and brains of an extensive gang of burglars that operated throughout this city, Brooklyn and New Jersey. Goldman was known as an extensive commission merchant in gloves and silks. He did not carry any stock at his place of business, but is said to have control of large stocks in various parts of this city. The attention of the police had been directed to Goldman by thieves who have been arrested and convicted of numerous robberies, and who,

after being sent to prison, would accuse him of connection with the robberies, because, they said, Goldman had not kept his part of the bargain. The stories of the convicted burglars were repeated so often that some attention was paid to them, and

According to the police, regular meetings of the alleged robbers were held, at which Goldman presided. Plans of robbery were made at these gatherings and each man's work was mapped out. When a place was selected Goldman would go there and buy a small bill of goods, at the same time being careful to find out if the place was for this work, it is alleged, Goldman had sixteen expert flat workers or thieves. The gang, according to Captain Titus, had made preparations for robbing two big glove and silk houses, and the plunder

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NEW YORK, September 27 .- The move ment of prices in today's stock market reflected no positive improvement in the speculative situation. There were numerous recoveries from yesterday's levels, but the buying was not of the best and lacked conviction. Pools and the short interest were credited with the bulk of the purchases, although there was some attempt made to attach significance to London's buying, especially of the Atchisons.

The remarkable showing or earnings made by the property named should arouse interest, but the public is unusually apathetic. Banks and trust companies are carrying stocks for some of the largest interests in the country, while brokers' offices reflect little intention on the part of the public to assume the equities and permit liquidation. The stocks cannot be wired with burglar alarms. He would make his report at the next meeting of his "gang," and finally preparations for robbing the place would be made. Occasionally it would be detected by it. forced out easily nor by the usual devices, hence traders are all at sea as to the proper position to assume pending a revival of activity.

Copper is still a deterrent influence since it has demonstrated a lack of snap even after the recent covering. The congested condition of the London copper market and the artificial devices for sustaining prices are being widely commented upon. In the street there is a disposition to construe the recent weakness to be a Standard Oil desire for achieving some carefully guarded purpose in another direction. Those who accept this view do so in the belief that this large security-holding party would not depress a stock which might endanger their entire holdings.

The steady demand for the low-priced is sues which enjoy the protection of the Vanderbilts continues to confuse the street. Officials continue to withhold any confirmation of the scheme to make New York Central the holding company for all the Vanderbilt lines, and meanwhile the mixed buying continues. Houses usually esting buying continues. Houses usually acting for inside interests take round amounts of the Nickel Plate, Canada Southern and Erie and Western issues, while persistent buying of a purely speculative character accompanies the advance. Many of the shares are selling above intrinsic value already but faith is great in the new value to be added by the closer relations to be as-The coal stocks were again firm, but no effort was made to force them unduly to the front. Inside interests are firmly convinced that these shares will improve on merit, and are willing to allow them to go with the market for a time. The steel stocks were all strong under a miscellaneous demand, and sentiment in the trade seemed to be improving. The independent concerns were taken up by certain pools, and the old stories of possible absorption by the trust were revived.

The money market presented no new features. The prospects are that the banks will show a gain in money and a reduc-Woodruff Manufacturing Company, brick tion in loans tomorrow with some addition to the reserve. addition to 1912 E street northwest. the banks are making every effort to strengthen themselves in advance of the October payments on the British loan and the demand for money in the south, there general belief in an active market once these demands begin to as-sert themselves. Today's advance is con-sequently regarded as only a rally which must give way in due time to an opposite movement of equal range.
